Additional Resources

Healthy Incentives Program (HIP)

HIP helps SNAP recipients in Massachusetts buy fresh, locally grown fruits and vegetables from participating farm-vendors. For each SNAP dollar spent on eligible produce, you get the same amount put back onto your EBT card (a dollar-for-dollar match). You can use HIP at farmers' markets, farm stands, mobile markets, and CSA farm-share programs (not at typical grocery stores). Find a participating vendor near you via DTAFinder.com.

DoorDash Free Delivery Program

In response to gaps in SNAP and rising food insecurity, DoorDash launched an Emergency Food Response, partnering with 300+ food banks and pantries to deliver 1 million free meals nationwide. Additionally, DoorDash is waiving delivery and service fees for approximately 300,000 grocery orders placed by SNAP/EBT recipients. Customers can use promo code SNAPDD at select stores for $0 delivery and service fees (11/1/25–11/30/25).

Instacart said it will offer customers who receive SNAP benefits 50% on their next grocery order to ease strain as the government prepares to cut off food aid payments. Instacart said any customer who placed an order in October using a SNAP/EBT card will be eligible for the discount, which will be available even if the government makes the payments as planned on Nov. 1.

Gopuff, a company that provides fast delivery of food and other convenience items, said it will provide $50 worth of free groceries in November to customers who have a SNAP/EBT card connected to their Gopuff account. Gopuff said it will spend up to $10 million on the program.
